Ideas vs. Opportunities

It's unlikely
That every one of your business ideas represents good business opportunities

Idea generation
comes from you and is much more likely to lead you to start a business that you have a personal interest in creating

It's much easier to be happy in life
when you enjoy what you're doing!

Pinterest

This incredibly popular "pinning" social network pivoted from "Tote" which allowed people to browse and shop their favorite retailers and sent them updates when their favorite items were available and on sale.

The creators realized that the users of Tote were mostly interested in building "collections" of their favorite items and sharing these collections with friends.

Since its repositioning, Pinterest now has over 70 million users with approximately 80% of its users being women. While its pivot has been wildly successful in terms of user growth, Pinterest is trying to figure out how to get back to Tote's eCommerce and revenue roots.

How Do I Know if My Idea is an Opportunity?

- Can you make your idea come to life within a window of opportunity?
- Does your idea fill a want or a need that isn't already being met?
- Does your pricing allow you to price your product or service to sell while you earn a profit?
- Do you have the knowledge, skills, and resources to create the business alone?

Window of Opportunity

Does it fulfill a want or need?

Is it profitable?
